INTRODUCTION

Robert Lynn Horne, MD

Executive Director
World Scouting Museum, West Virginia

In the past 116 years, over 900 million Scouts and Guides have raised their hands in the Scout sign and said the words of their Scout Promise.

Have there been changes in the Scout Promise and Scout Law since Robert Baden-Powell first wrote them over 100 years ago? Yes. Will there be changes in the Scout Promise and Scout Law used by Scouts and Guides around the world in the next 100 years? Absolutely! What can we learn from Promises and Laws used in the past to guide us in educating more youth with the character building, leadership development and values of the Scouting program?

The largest expansion in the Scouting Movement came under the visionary leadership of Secretary General Jacques Moreillon. Membership in the World Organization of the Scout Movement rose from 16 million Scouts in 117 countries to 28 million in 154 countries. This coincided with the fall of the iron curtain.

I believe the largest opportunity for growth of the Movement in the next 100 years is from youth in China, Cuba and other “officially communist” countries who object to using “Duty to God” in the Scout Promise. Some countries’ Promise may contain a model they can use. Slovenia’s Scouts “Promise . . . that I will accept the Spiritual reality, develop it and live in accordance with the Scout Law.” Serbia and Montenegro’s Scouts “Promise . . . to accept the Spiritual Reality and to search for its full meaning”. Czech Republic Scouts “Promise . . .to serve the highest Truth and Love faithfully”. Switzerland allows instead of a reference to God, “With your help and happily, I Promise . . .to search for the meaning of my life”. Sweden’s new Scout Promise states in its entirety “I Promise to do my best to follow the Scout Law”, but does refer to God in the first point of its Scout Law. On January 10, 2019 Viet Nam was readmitted to WOSM to become the 170th member. Like Sweden, its Promise does not refer to God or anything Spiritual.

Scouting began in 1907 when Baden-Powell’s original Scout Law contained 9 points:

1. A Scout’s honor is to be trusted.
2. A Scout is loyal.
3. A Scout’s duty is to be useful and to help others.
4. A Scout is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout.
5. A Scout is courteous.
6. A Scout is a friend to animals
7. A Scout obeys orders of his parents, Patrol Leader or Scoutmaster without question.
8. A Scout smiles and whistles under all difficulties.
9. A Scout is thrifty.

Ernest Thompson Seton, 1st Chief Scout of the Boy Scouts of America, used this in the first 1910 printing of the Scout Handbook. James E. West, Chief Scout Executive, insisted that BSA add three more points, Brave, Clean and Reverent and the Executive Board voted to do so.

Lord Baden-Powell considered these additions and in 1911 he decided to add a 10th point to the British Scout Law: "A Scout is clean in thought, word and deed."

The current United Kingdom's Law has only 7 points:

A Scout is to be trusted.

A Scout is loyal

A Scout is friendly and considerate.

A Scout belongs to the worldwide family of Scouts.

A Scout has courage in all difficulties.

A Scout makes good use of time and is careful of possessions and property.

A Scout has self-respect and respect for others.

Today 10 points are still the most common, but they are not necessarily the same 10 points. For example, Azerbaijan's 10th point is "A Scout is brave", instead of Clean.

The shortest Scout Law is from Singapore's 1973 revision, only 5 points:

1) A Scout is to be trusted

2) A Scout is loyal

3) A Scout is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout

4) A Scout is courageous

5) A Scout is cheerful.

Denmark's Scout Law has 6 points; Belize, Brunei, Lesotho and Mauritius have 7 points, while Bahamas, Cape Verde, Japan, Malta and Mozambique have 8 points.

Each of you can perform your own analysis and draw your own conclusions about the similarities and differences in the Scout Promise and Scout Law used by today's 75 million Scouts and Guides throughout the world. As you read, I hope that you will be inspired to do your best to bring the Scouting program to boys and girls who would not have the opportunity to be Scouts without your personal assistance. But let us never forget the words of our founder, Lord Baden-Powell: "Be faithful to your Scout Promise, even when you are no longer young and may God help you to do so!"

Original 1908 text

In his original book on Boy Scouting The Fortnightly Edition, Published Jan-Mar 1908 General Baden Powell introduced the Scout Promise, as follows:

Before he becomes a Scout, a boy must take the Scout's oath, thus:

On my honour I promise that---I will do my duty to God and the Queen.

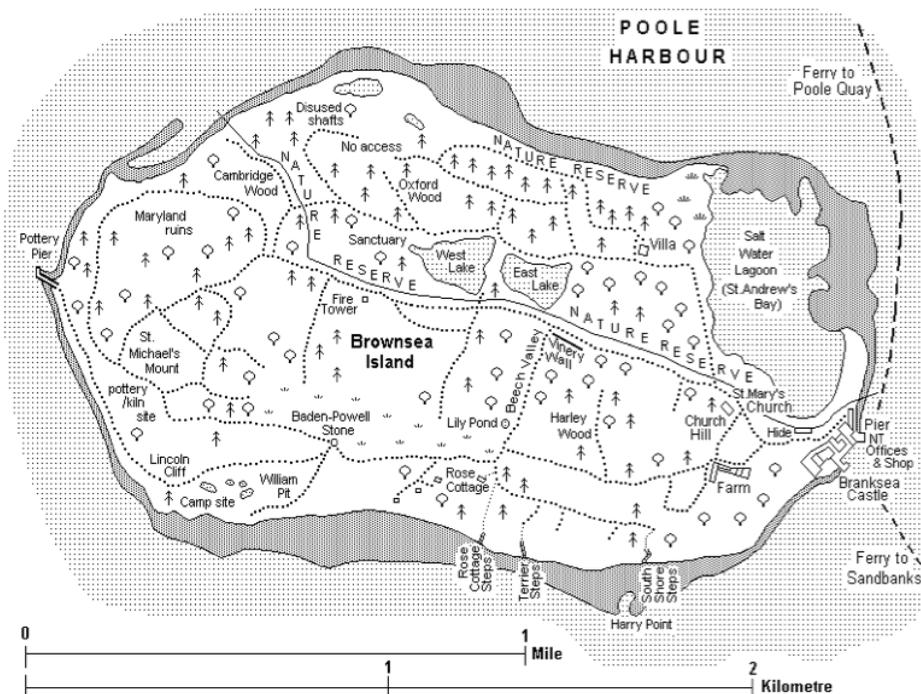

I will do my best to help others, whatever it costs me.

I know the Scout Law, and will obey it.

While taking this oath the Scout will stand, holding his right hand raised level with his shoulder, palm to the front, thumb resting on the nail of the little finger and the other three fingers upright, pointing upwards:-- This is the Scout's salute and secret sign.

PREFACE to the Sixth Edition

Robert Lynn Horne, MD

Executive Director

World Scouting Museum, West Virginia

We are happy to provide this copy of the 6th Edition of One World, One Promise: The Promise and Law 900 Million Scouts and Guides to you, participants at the 25th World Scout Jamboree. The first 3 editions focused on the Promise and Law of past and current members of WOSM. The Subtitle had changed from “The Promise and Law of 500 Million Scouts” in the First Edition to “The Promise and Law of 550 Million Scouts” in the Third Edition. Many asked us to “Do Our Best” to include the Promise and Law of members of WAGGGS to allow comparisons. Robert Baden-Powell had, of course, written the Original Promise and Law of both the Boy Scouts and the Girl Guides.

Thus the Fourth Edition contained our first attempt to include the Promise and Law of each Association of each Country in WAGGGS from 1910 to 2015. The subtitle was changed to “The Promise and Law of 800 Million Scouts and Guides:” Many members of WAGGGS helped us preserve the history of changes in the Promise and Law of over 250 million Girl Guides and Girl Scouts in 145 Countries. This 6th Edition is more complete due to the assistance of Girl Guides, Girl Scouts, and their Leaders from around the world. But much more assistance is needed, especially to accurately record the years when changes were made in the Promise and Law of the members of WAGGGS.

We hope you will enjoy reading this 6th edition, and using it as a reference. Before you do so, we have 2 requests. First, please turn to your country’s entry. The items we know we are missing are stated in RED. Second, please send any corrections or additions to us at lvismdirector@gmail.com.

Do you know of any other versions of your Promise and Law, either prior or subsequent to the ones we have listed? What about the Promise and Law of other Associations in your country, especially those who preceded your Association? We also know we are missing some versions of the Promise and Law of other Sections, e.g. we may have those of the Scout Section, but not those of the Cub, Venturing or Rover Sections. We may not have the Promise and Law in your native language. Or, if the script of your native language is different, e.g. Arabic or Chinese, and we don’t have it, we will be happy to try to include it in the 7th Edition if you send us a pdf copy.. Also, if as you read other countries' Promise and Law, you may see we need a translation of their Promise and Law that you can provide.

We would like to give each of you a special tour of the Museum when you can get to Charleston, West Virginia, perhaps on your way to Summit Bechtel Reserve. The Museum grew in size from 1000 sq feet (93 sq m) in 1 building in 1999 to 14,000 sq ft (1394 sq m) in another building in 2014. Because of a drop from 25,000 Scouts in the local council to 2500 in 2021, the number of youth visiting the Museum decreased proportionately. Because part of our mission is to make youth aware of the International scope of Scouting, the Museum Board voted to move the Museum to Charleston, WV. Our location is 1 block from the State Capitol and the State Museum, and only 6 minutes from the airport which is the gateway to the Summit, and 2 minutes from the Interstate exit for those traveling to the Summit by car or bus.

In the meantime, please frequently visit our website, www.worldscoutingmuseum.org You can see under "Exhibits" over 3,000 Scout postcards from around the world, and we are adding more to the website from our collection of over 11,000 postcards as rapidly as our all-volunteer staff can do so. Also, If you send us your email address, we will also send you a copy of our newsletter.

On a personal note, the first World Jamboree I attended was the 12th, held in 1967 in Farragut State Park, Idaho, USA. The 25th World Jamboree will be my tenth, and is again back in South Korea, But it was my 1st WJ that changed my life and resulted in my dedicating my life to International Scouting. It led to the creation of the Las Vegas International Scouting Museum as a non-profit organization.

PREFACE to the First Edition Of One World One Promise:
The Promise and Law of 500 Million Scouts
by Eduardo Missoni, M.D.

Secretary General April 2004–November 2007
World Organization of the Scout Movement

July 7th, 1965, the last day of my first summer camp. At sunset, the troop was aligned in a perfect square on the shore of Lake Bolsena in Italy. In front of the troop leader, with my left hand on the Scout flag and my right hand raised in the Scout salute, I pronounced those words that would make me a Scout: “On my honor, I Promise...”

Since August 1st 1907, when Robert Baden-Powell – BP – and 21 boys from very different socio-economic backgrounds hoisted the flag on the first Scout camp ever, several hundred millions of young people, girls and boys, women and men, throughout the world have engaged with the same commitment, on their honor, to do their best, to do their duties to God and to their country, to help others at all times and to obey the Scout Law. The Scout Promise and Law represent the pillar of Scouting and the very special day that a Scout pronounces her/his Promise remains indelible in her/his memory.

That day he or she becomes part of an ever -growing family united by the same commitment “to leave the world a little better that they found it”, as BP wrote to all of us in his last message. Overcoming the barriers deriving from their personal and national history, culture, skin color, religion, social class, physical and mental capacity or any other difference, Scouts recognize themselves as part of the same worldwide brotherhood and sisterhood: “One World, One Promise”.

Nevertheless, while the universal principles of the Promise and the Law to which Scouts solemnly adhere are the same worldwide, besides translation into local language, the wording of both has been often adapted according to context and culture, so ensuring that anywhere Scouts may take the commitment with full understanding and consciousness of the responsibility which goes with it.

Thanks to the brilliant initiative of Robert Lynn Horne, Executive Director of the Las Vegas International Scouting Museum and the collaboration between that organization and the World Scout Bureau,¹ the existing variations of the texts of the Scout Promise and Law as adopted throughout a great number of National Scout Organizations have been collected, translated into English and organized in the present volume. This offers the possibility of direct reference and comparison.

It may also stimulate further analysis of the style and wording used in the different contexts to verify if they are appropriate for today's generations, while remaining coherent to the original principles proposed by the Founder. In fact, a purely ritual Promise made using language and wording alien to today's youth may remain distant to them and be experienced as a pure formality. Only a deep, convinced commitment, repeatedly renewed during the time spent in active Scouting, will change a young woman or man into a real Scout, influencing her/his lifestyle and lifelong engagement to serve her/his community and "helping others at all times".

Through participating in World Jamborees and other international Scout gatherings, we can appreciate the enormous diversity, which characterizes our Movement and the richness it represents. All different, but all equal through the same commitment and value framework, Scouts recognize themselves as sisters and brothers and learn to break all socio-cultural barriers and open their hearts and minds to all human beings, whatever their condition. Reading through the different versions of the Promise and Law, undoubtedly the common denominator of Scouting worldwide, may help us to re-discover the deep educational and social value not only of the words, but of the symbols and gestures that accompany the very moment when a youngster becomes a Scout committing, on her/his honor to do her/his best toward the Spirit who guides her/his life and community and toward her/his country and the community to whom she or he belongs. To make of service to others a permanent behavior. To have in the few points of the Scout Law the ideal horizon of her/his life.

Values such as trustworthiness, loyalty, solidarity, kindness, respect for the natural environment, optimism and frugality, learned walking under the rain, with suffering feet and still singing; sharing food and shelter; playing, laughing and praying together at the campfire or sleeping under canvas or under the stars at the end of the day; helping those in most difficult circumstances. Opening oneself to the world.

Once again in this centenary year, on August 1st 2007, together, when the sun rises, millions of Scouts, let's raise our right hand, the bigger and stronger helping the smaller and weaker, recalling the three points of our Promise, let's reaffirm our commitment to make of this world a place of solidarity and social justice: creating a better world.

PREFACE to the Second Edition
Robert Lynn Horne, MD
Executive Director
Las Vegas International Scouting Museum

When “One World, One Promise” was chosen as the theme of Scouting’s Centennial Year, my first reaction was that it was an inspired choice. My second reaction, as a student of International Scouting’s history, was that we could learn much from the subtle differences in the Promise used by Scouts in over 200 countries and the larger differences in the Law that has governed the lives and behavior of 500 million Scouts.

When I asked Dr. Eduardo Missoni whether an historical compilation of the Promise and Law from each country existed, he said it did not, but wished it did. So on that evening in Azerbaijan at the 2005 Eurasian Regional Scout Conference, he assigned me the task that has become a labor of love.

My goal was to compile each version of the Promise and Law used by every section of every Scout association of every country during the past 100 years. I have been helped by hundreds of Scouts and Scouters, including 13-year-old Scouts, volunteer leaders, professional Scouters and International Commissioners from around the world. They lived that part of the Scout Promise that says, “To help other people at all times”. My thanks to each of you.

No one could have attended the 21st World Jamboree in July 2007 without experiencing the awe of seeing the future leaders of the world demonstrating that World Peace can be a reality in our lifetime. Scouts from Israel and Palestine, Armenia and Azerbaijan, were camping side by side not only in friendship, but as brothers and sisters.

May you have many years of Great Scouting!

Yours in Brotherhood,
Robert Lynn Horne, MD

as we see each other many times more.

Girl Guide Promise (1986-1991)

Guided by the Lord I promise with sincerity and in truth to do my best to become a better Guide. Together with my sister Guides to tread the path of helpfulness and to give more and more to a world which can become better because of us.

Promise (1992-present)

The Association no longer uses a Formulated Promise. Each member uses their own words to express their individual commitment to the Movement.

Girl Guide Law (1984-1991)

Following in the path of the Lord we want, together in friendship, to find our way in the world.

We want to be thoughtful, attentive and full of admiration in the discovery of nature and in the meeting of people.

Thus, we want to train ourselves to give truth, honesty, happiness and useful help in the building of a new world which will become a better place to live in together.

Guide Law (1992-present)

A text adapted to today's needs replaces the Girl Guide Law.

I am a Girl Guide and I want to live:

I choose not to take part in programmed leisure;

I want to take a different look at myself.

What am I able to do?

What do I want to do?

I dare believe in the others and look for God.

I want to play, to laugh, to fly and to be quiet.

Without any reason at all...or still not always,

I do not want to get trapped in everyday

Routine and rusty ideas

but I want to get out of my cosy cover

together with the group and fight for peace in the world and declare solidarity with...

I do not only take chances within my grips.

I take initiative,

Sometimes I run risks, I know.

I also know I am not alone.

I am not a lonely girl,

but I am part of the group...

A group where not only Mr. Big mouth has a say,

a group where I decide as well.

I am co-responsible.

At regular intervals I want to free up some time to look back, together with the whole group.

Not to pull everything down

but to find which way we want to take.

That's what I want to work for

Not only tomorrow but also today.
